Some people keep canaries, but the octopuses in my book keep a tiny, colorful mollusk called a nudibranch for a pet. They are nicknamed “butterflies of the sea”.